Peace Corps Seeks Results

TEHRAN,Iran -- As part of its expanded effort in support of vocational education in Iran, Peace Corps officials and volunteers are working on ways to measure the effectiveness of their teaching programs.

But Ronald Smith of 1535 Taney Place, Gary, Ind., doesn't need a scientific study to see the results of his two years as a Peace Corps volunteer teacher in this Middle Eastern country.

One is Mohammed Mansure, a 14 year old boy from a small village near Burojen where Smith taught in a rural vocational school for two years. Like tens of thousands of other villagers, Mohammed had dropped out of grammar school and, without a skill of any kind, was likely to spend his life in poverty as an unskilled laborer.

Last fall, however, Mohammed had a certificate as a welder and Smith had been instrumental in getting him a job at a salary of nearly $3.30 a day, at least four times what he would make as an unskilled laborer.

In fact, 11 out of the 35 young people in Smith's class had jobs when they completed the two-year vocational school course. The others were likely to return to their villages, where they now would be able to operate and maintain new farm machinery being introduced into Iranian agriculture.

Those result are exactly what the Iranian government hopes to achieve on a nationwide scale by teaching boys 12 to 16 years old to do auto repairs, welding, metalworking, plumbing and electrical wiring.

Vocational schools are being set up on the high school level. Many are located in remote communities to serve rural youth. Because of a critical shortage of Iranian vocational education teachers, the Peace Corps has been asked to provide skilled volunteers to work in these rural schools.

When Smith, 26, first reported to Burojen, a mountain town in south central Iran, however, he was in for a major disappointment: the "school" consisted of a foundation ditch with two rows of bricks in place. Although he had hoped that the school would be completed and ready for classes to start, this was hardly the case.

So for nearly the entire year that followed, Smith and another Peace Corps volunteer teacher were involved in pleading with government officials to supply building materials and then badgering the contractor to get his men onto the job. Smith did some bricklaying himself, and later helped wire the shops.

At the same time, a makeshift vocational education program was put together. A room in another local school was used, but it lacked virtually any teaching materials. Smith recalls that year as one of frustration, discouragement and almost nothing resembling modern education.

But in the fall of 1973, the Burojen rural vocational school finally was completed and officially opened with speeches by community leaders. This past spring, the first class was graduated and Smith wound up his two-year Peace Corps tour in Iran.

A graduate of Tolleston High School in Gary, Smith graduated in 1970 from Arkansas A M & N College, now the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff. He worked for the Inland Steel Co. in East Chicago, Ind. for two years, then came to Iran as a Peace Corps volunteer in the summer of 1972.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith, live at the Taney Place address in Gary.

Smith has been one of about 165 Peace Corps volunteers and trainees serving in Iran in a wide variety of programs. Around the world, about 7,300 Americans are serving as Peace Corps volunteers in 69 developing nations.

The Peace Corps is part of ACTION, the federal agency for volunteer service established in July 1971 to administer volunteer programs at home and overseas. Mike Balzano is the director of ACTION.

ACTION's domestic programs are Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA), Foster Grandparent Program, Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), Active Corps of Executives (ACE), Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Senior Companion Program, ACTION Cooperative Volunteers and University Year for ACTION.

Persons interested in ACTION programs can call 800-424-8580 toll free for more information.

Smith, 26, a graduate of the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff, has been teaching vocational education in Iran for the past two years. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith of 1535 Taney Place, Gary, Smith worked at inland Steel in East Chicago, Ind. for two years before joining the Peace Corps.

President Ford Urged To Extend Amnesty

The National Urban League recently called on President Ford to include holders of less than honorable discharges in his planned amnesty proposals. Text of a wire sent this morning by the League's executive director, Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., states:

"While public attention is focused on amnesty as it relates to draft evaders and deserters, the National Urban League asks that you consider special amnesty action for the quarter of a million Vietnam era soldiers with less than honorable discharges. Many of these men hold bad discharges because of discriminatory practices within the armed forces and the system of military justice. All suffer severe handicaps in civilian life because of the circumstances of their separation from the service. As the nation considers with compassion the plight of those who fled, let it also be compassionate toward those who served and were found wanting. We urge you to take humane action of forgiveness that would erase the blight of bad discharges for so many of our citizens who would otherwise be haunted by them for the rest of their lives. This is no less urgent than other, more publicized aspects of the amnesty issue and we have confidence that the humane qualities you have so amply demonstrated will be extended to the victims of less than honorable discharges as well.

The League has been active in defending civil rights of veterans penalized by less than honorable discharges. Earlier this year it helped win reversal of the Pentagon's "coding" system of discharges, which operated against many individuals who thought they had honorable discharges.

The League's Veterans Affairs Program has helped over 70,00 veterans find jobs, schooling, training programs and assisted them in dealing with other problems.

Legislation to Spur More Home Purchases

The Senate Banking Committee recently reported out by a 10-3 vote the Cranston-Brooke bill directing the Department of Housing and Urban Development to lend $10 billion in 8-¾ percent mortgages to spur the sale of 350,000 more homes over the next 12 months.

The Committee also agreed that the bill, designed to help lift the housing industry out of a depressionsized slump, will automatically go to the floor next Wednesday unless the Adminsitration comes up with its own proposals before then.

HUD Secretary James T. Lynn told several Senators and staff members prior to the start of this morning's markup session that he would announce "a similar proposal" within seven days.

Committee members Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) and Edward W. Brooke (R., Mass.), authors of the committee bill--the "Home Purchase Assistance Act of 1974" (S. 3 979)--asked for the 7-day delay in filing "so that any differences between our bill and the Administration's proposal can hopefully be ironed out in committee rather than on the floor".

Secretary Lynn already has discretionary power to borrow housing funds at 8-¾ percent interest and lend them out at the same rate. But the Cranston-Brooke bill would make mandatory the purchase of $5 billion in mortgages on around 175,000 new housing units, plus another $5 billion in mortgages on some 175,000 existing units, selling within the prescribed price ranges.

Houses covered by the bill would have a ceiling price of $30,000, except in high-cost construction areas like California and sections of the Northeast, where homes selling at prices up to $45,000 would be included.

Cranston and Brooke estimated that their bill would result in over 300,000 more jobs in the depressed home building industry.

They said they expect "an immediate and enthusiastic response" by potential homebuyers who now must pay interest rates of 9-½ to 10 percent "when they are lucky enough to get a home loan".

"The people who need homes to live in and the people who build homes for a living are victimized first and hardest by the Federal Reserve's ttight money policy," the Senator said.

"Both the depressed home construction industry and the inadequately housed home-buying public must get some legitimate help from the government to offset the harshsips that governemnt policies are causing," they

Cranston and Brooke estimated that some 10 million families have been "pushed out of the housing market" since 1970 with the rise in conventional mortgage interest rates from 7 percent to the current 10 percent in some areas.

"Every time the rate goes up one percent," they said, "another 2-½ million Americans are priced out of a home of their own".

About 495,000 construction workers were jobless in August, 35,000 more than in July, the Senators pointed out.

The unemployment rate in the construction trades is 11.1 percent, more than double the rate of 5.4 percent for the labor force as a whole and an increase of 0.5 percent over July.

Housing starts nationwide are expected to total only 1,400,000 to 1,450,000 this year, as contrasted with 2,057,000 last year and 2.4 million in 1972.

CDEC Soldier Earns Two Valor Awardss

USACDEC, Ft. Ord, Calif. (Sept. 27, 1974) Two awards of the Silver Star Medal, the nation's third highest decoration for valor, were made today to Captain Jaime T. Rosado who, prior to his retirement from military service earlier this month, served with the US Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command (CDEC), headquartered at Ft. Ord.

The citations noted Rosado's bravery on two separate occasions while serving in the Republic of Vietnam. In the first, he was leader of a patrol composed of Navy Seal Team members plus a squad of Vietnamese Civilian Irregular Defense Group (CIDG). When the patrol was ambused by Viet Cong, Rosado led the group to safety but discovered that one member of the team had been severely wounded and left behind.

He returned for the soldier and carried him to safety while under heavy enemy fire although wounded several times himself. His action was directly responsible for saving the life of the soldier.

In a later action, he was leading a patrol in search of two American advisors who had been ambused on Nui Cam Mountain. When the group was pinned down by heavy enemy machine gun fire Rosado unhesitatingly assaulted and knocked out the weapon before being seriouly wounded by fire from another machne gun. His action provided a diversion which made it possible for the two missing soldiers to elude the enemy forces and return safely.

Both awards were presented by Brigadier General Donald F. Packard, CDEC Commander.

Rosado's Army career began with his enlistment in 1954 at Ft. Dix, N.J. He took Special Forces training in 1965 and was commissioned as a second lieutenant in 1967.

In a subsequent assignment with the Organization of American States he was instrumental in settling numerous differences between the people of honduras and El Salvador. He also spent much of his off duty time teaching English to local school students for which he was officially commended by the Department of Morayon, El Salvador.

His military awards and decorations include the Soldier's Medal, Bronze Star Medal with "V" device and one oak leaf cluster, Air Medal, Purple Heart with three oak leaf clusters, Combat Infantryman's Badge and Master Parachutist Badge.

He is the only known American officer authorized to wear three Peruvian decorations plus that nation's paratrooper wings. He has also received the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with Silver Star and the Vietnamese paratrooper wings.

He and his wife, Christy, are expecting the birth of a child momentaily. After that event, Rosado plans to continue working toward a master's degree in human relations as a step toward social work, primarily with minority groups.

"I've completed about three years of college," he says. "When I finish my schooling I may stay in California or go back to tThe Bronx, I hope I can convince those kids they need to get an education and a goal in life. Without it, they're lost!"

Infant Care Center

The Infant Care center in Seaside is only one of many community service projects schedules to benefit from the annual rummage sale being sponsored by the Monterey Chapter of the American Association of University Women on Saturday, October 5th.

The event will take place at the Fairgrounds, 2030 Fremont, one day only, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Included in the wide variety of merchandise for sale will be kitchen and garden items, new and used clothing, sports equipment, jewelry, books and Christmas decorations. A snack bar will serve cakes, cookies and coffee. Jams and jellies will beavailable and a garden booth will feature a variety of potted plants.

Among AAUW members assisting with the sale are Seaside residents Mrs. Hans (Grace) Munzer and Mrs. John (Sarah) Perkins.

GI Home Interest on Rise

There is now a higher interest rate on homes purchased with GI loans, but the alternative was an increasing probability of unavailability of financing at lower rates, the Veterans Administration commented recently.

The maximum allowable interest rate on mortages was increased on May 13 from 8 ½ to 8 ¾, under a joint agreement by VA and the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

NMC Receives Human Goals Award

Equal opportunity goals achieved by the Naval Material Command (NMC) were called "far beyond the requirements set by the federal government and the Secretary of the Navy," in a ceremony at the Washington Navy Yard Aug. 2.

Assistant Secretary of the navy Joseph T. McCullen, Jr. praised NMC's EEO efforts and then surprised Admiral Isaac C. Kidd, Jr., Chief of Naval Material, with the Navy's first presentation of the 'department of Defense Human Goals Award. He cited Adm. Kidd for setting a personal example and for "assuring that necessary actions are taken to provide anequal opportunity for all employees."

Four other members of the NMC had just been cited by Adm. Kidd for outstanding contributions to the Navy's EEO program. The setting was NMC's First Annual EEO Awards dinner. Award categories were: activity head, EEO official, and EEO manager of supervisor.

The first award went to Rear Adm. Roy Isaman, Commander, Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Md., the outstanding official award to Mr. Talmadge O. Bartley of the Naval Electronics Laboratory center, San Diego; and the manager award to Mr. Joseph E. Wilkinson, Norfolk, Naval Shipyard. The civilian awards included the Navy Superior Civilian Service Award (NSCSA).

Adm. Kidd had a surprise of his own for NMC's top EEO official, Mr. Nathaniel Stinson, to whom he presented the NSCSA for his work in developing the NMC EEO program.

Guest speaker at the awards event, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Equal Opportunity, H. Minton Francis, said that the NMC has a great reputation in the Department of Defense for its EEO effort. He praised Adm. Kidd for providing the command leadership "under which things can happen."

Secretary McCullen also took the occasion to announce that the Secretary of the Navy had signed, earlier that day, a policy statement reaffirming his support and that of the Department of the Navy, of equal opportunity for all personnel. In the statement, Mr. Middendorf noted his pleasure with the real commitment by commanders and managers to such a policy and said he intends to use the powers of his office to the maximum to overcome any remaining vestiges of past discrimination.

Mr. Bartley's award recognized his work with a unique tutoring program, for which he has become Eleventh Naval District coordinator, and work on Minority Enterprise-Small Business contracting procedures and on-the-job training for native Americans. The tutoring program promises to meet the needs ofthe entire San Diego area and large parts of three states. Started last fall by volunteer employees of NELC to help potential dropout students in San Diego schools, the project was later expanded to include tutors from all units of the Eleventh Naval District. The district includes Southern California, Nevada, and parts of Arizona.

Rear Adm. Isaman was cited for innovative approaches to a full integrated workface through seminars at various echelons, reactivating an apprentice program, and personal involvement in the program reporting system, in addition to local community programs.

Through Mr. Wilkinson's efforts, the Norfolk yard's Industrial Relations Office already has met EEO goals for 1981, mainly in training avenues set up to assure self development and upward progression for all employees. One program noted is the yard's Helper to Intermediate Program, which has enrolled 107 hlepers aiming at qualifying as intermediate level mechanics.

The San Diego tutoring project has seen an initial group of 20 volunteers grow to 60 at the end of the school year and a realistic goal of 300 tutors in 125 San Diego area schools this fall.

The emphasis of the tutoring has been to help students avoid academic failure in English, mathematics, basic science, and study skills, but tutors also work with gifted students. Most tutoring is done in the classroom on a one-to-one-basis. The program is an outgrowth of an interest to do more for minority students and a recognition that the nation's youth must overcome an alarming rate of academic failure if it is to prepare for a future of real opportunity. The result was a new aspect of community involvement with San Diego secondary schools, which enroll a high percentage of Navy and Marine Corps dependents as pupils. Beyond its initial goals, the program is giving the problem student an improved image of himself.

Which one can we trust in these times of economic crisis?

Our next Governor will need vast experience in dealing with state finances. And the maturity and judgment to make intelligent decisions.

Our nation's economic problems grow more severe every day. And the financial problems of most Californians grow withthem.

The relentless increase in cost of living is cutting deeply into savings. And into our hopes for the future. The economy isclearly the most serious problem in our nation. And in our state.

We hope the current economic crisis will improve by the time our next Governor takes office in January, 1975. But if it doesn't, we must be prepared with a Governor who can meet the challenge.

Houston I. Flournoy has been the Controller of the State of California for 7½ years. He is the chief fiscal officer of the State. No one is more knowledgeable or experienced in the financial problems of California.

Compare the careers of these two men. We think you'll agree; Hugh Flournoy must be our next Governor.

Not in a generation has our nation and state faced such economic uncertainty.

Not in a generation have the American people been so fearful of the future... of inflation... of unemployment... of deep recession... or worse.

Not in a generation has there been a greater need for a Governor who can truly lead and inspire genuine confidence.

In these times of crisis, we must have no less than excellence in our leaders. The alternative could be tragedy.

The next Governor of California must be Houston I. Flournoy

United Fund Goal Set

James C. Glaser, Jr., the 1974-75 United Fund drive chairman, has announced a goal of $260,000 for this year's campaign. This figure represents a four percent increase over the 1973-74 target amount of $250,000. Donations from last year's drive actually totaled $252,311, a new record for the annual Monterey Peninsula campaign.

Glaser stated tha the volunteer committee are organized and read-- officialy start the c on Thursday, September . It will continue for two months. "I know that I can speak for all our workers," he said, "we are very eager to get underway, especially knowing that this one gift will help so many people here on the peninsula."

The theme for the campaign is "People Helping People the United Way." The money raised will financially benefit fourteen local charitable agencies, including the Alcoholism Council.

Today's Army NEWS By SFC Jose Garcia ARMY RECRUITER

TV People have an image problem. They suffer as the constant butt of the comedian's joke. They're no joke to TODAY'S ARMY. The Army not only wants skilled TV repair people, they're willing to offer advanced pay and promotion to get them!

Under a new program called STRIPES FOR SKILLS, a TV repairman or woman who has two years combination of training and experience is eligible to enlist at an immediate pay of $377.70 per month. Of course the candidate must be able to meet normal enlistment qualifications.

After an eight-week basic training and an eight-week on-the-job period, the STRIPES FOR SKILLS enlistee has a chance to be promoted to E-4 or E-5 (Specialist) immediately. The advance rank means another $30 a month pay raise which is added to an Army employment package including meals, housing, medical care, 30 day paid vacation and possible twenty year retirement.

The STRIPES FOR SKILLS enlistee is also able to select duty location if the speciality has a vacancy there.

This program is open to more than 150 other job categories. These jobs are open to men and women equally. For further information, and complete details, contact us at 431 Webster St. in Monterey or call us at 372-0553. It gives me great pleasure to welcome our latest volunteers in TODAY'S ARMY. From Marina Garth Orgis, Bryce Orgis and Donald Preskitt enlisted. Fort Ord was represented by Marques D. Jones and Terrence Hall. I know our Post readers join me in wishing them the best of luck in their choice of career.

THAT'S IT FOR THIS WEEK

Kodak Helps Employees Advance Studies

ROCHESTER, N.Y. -- Christine Forde is a wife, a mother, of two teen-age daughters, an accomplished seamstress, a student and computer programmer trainee. Mrs. Forde enjoys her many roles and, in her soft-spoken voice, tells how she decided to go back to school to earn her ASS degree in data processing through the encouragement of her husband.

"For many years, my husband has urged me to go back to school to earn a college degree and pursue a field that interested me," she says.

Like Mrs. Forde, Thomas Loughlin was urged by his wife to return to school to study for his ASS and BA degrees in business administration - a longsought goal which he hopes to attain within the next five years.

Loughlin and Mrs. Forde are among thousands of Eastman Kodak Company men and women taking courses at college and universities this fall and winter. Through the company's tuition aid program, Kodak people are reimbursed 100 percent for tuition and other direct school charges for educational courses approved in advance and completed satisfactorily at approved institutions of higher learning.

Mrs. Forde, who lives at 350 Cottage St., Rochester, worked at a local tailoring firm for 17 years before taking keypunching courses at Rochester Business Institute. She joined Kodak four years ago as a keypunch operator, and it was shortly after that she began studying data processing at Monroe Community College (MCC).

"I usually take two courses a semester," says Mrs. Forde, adding that she has four courses left before receiving her associate's degree at MCC next June.

After gaining experience as a keypunch operator, she became a data control clerk and now is participating in an in-compamy self-teach training program for computer programming.

With working 40 hours a week and attending classes two nights each week, how does she manage to juggle all her roles so that her household runs smoothly? "I couldn't do it without my family," Mrs. Forde replies, quickly. Her husband, Lawrence, who has worked at the Kodak Apparatus Division for 10 years, is helpful in preparing dinner during the week. And her daughters help keep the house clean.

"I also get up early on Saturday mornings to study," points out Mrs. Forde, who often studies amid the petunias, marigolds and other flowers she cultivates in her backyard.

Although anxious to received her AAS degree in data processing, Mrs. Forde, formerly of Sanford, Fla., states she "won't stop here, but instead I would like to go at a slower pace." Someday, she intends to pursue a baccalureate degree in computer science from Rochester Institute of technology (RIT).

Ten years ago, Loughlin worked in product handling for distribution at Kodak. He later became a computer operator, and currently is a group leader in the order processing department of the company's Eastern Region marketing and distribution center. There, he coordinates the activities of eight people responsible for computer operations involving customer order processing and the preparation of billing data.

Having a college degree has always been important to Loughlin.

Black Educator Heads NEA Finance Committee

WASHINGTON, D. C.--An outstanding black educator from Flint, Mich., has been appointed chairman of one of the most important committees of the 1.5 million-member National Education Association, the Committee on Education Finance.

Announcement of the selection of Melvin E. Banner, a Michigan teacher for 21 years and past president of the United Teachers of Flint, was made by NEA Executive Secretary Terry E. Herdon, who was executive secretary of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) from 1969 to 1973.

Adequate financing for public education is one of six goals currently given top priority by NEA. The Committee on Educational Finance works toward that goal by advising NEA governing bodies on appropriate financial polices, recommending ways to promote taxpayer understanding of school finance programs and needs, identifying problems and trends in school finance, and suggesting ways to improve school finance programs at all levels of government.

Banner, a teacher in Emerson Junior High School, received the MEA Recognition Award and the Law Day Liberty Bell Award last year. He is also a recipient of the Key Man key given by the Flint Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A native of McDonald, Pa., Banner received his early education in Flint. He earned B.A. and M.A. degrees at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University.

In 1964-66, Banner was an administrative assistant with the Flint Board of Education. His teaching experience has included the Mott Adult and Continuation School, where he taught U. S. economic history.

Banner succeeds H. B. McDonough of Madison, Tenn., as chairman of the NEA finance committee. NEA staff contact with the committee is Mrs. Jean M. Flanigan, manager of Research Services.

Census Says Clerical Help Underpaid

An estimated 15 percent of all state clerical workers -- most of whom are women -- received take-home paychecks so small that they would be eligible for some form of welfare if they applied, State Senator Mervyn Dymally revealed today in announcing a hearing Sept. 24 on state job discrimination against women.

"This estimate may be low, according to the Clerical And Allied Services Employees Association which compiled the data," Dymally said. "The state boasts it is an equal opportunity employer, yet the average salary it pays its women employees is half the average salary of its men employees."

"That sounds more like an unequal opportunity employer," said the Los Angeles Democratic.

His Legislative Committee on Legal equality will hold a half day hearing on the subject Sept. 24 in Sacramento, in Room 4203 of the State Capitol.

Scheduled to testify at the hearing are representatives from the State Personnel Board, the Fair Employment Practices Commission, the California State Employees Association, other employee groups and advocates from women's groups.

Senator Dymally commented, "the State Personnel Board's own statistics indicate that there women are concerned 'equal opportunity' is an unfulfilled promise."

The annual census of state employees compiled by the State Personnel Board shows that women are concentrated in low paying clerical occupations. Almost 90 percent of the state's clerical workers are women. In contrast, men occupy the majority of administrative line positions.

The census also reveals that the average salary of the state's women employees is half that of its male employees. Women earn between an average of $500-599 monthly compared to the $1100-1299 average monthly of men, the survey showed.

$350,000 For New Agencies

The National Urban League and the United Negro college Fund have announced receipt of grants totalling $360,000 from the Kresge and Charles Hayden foundations, to complete construction of the two agencies' new headquarters building at 500 East 62 Street in New York City.

The announcement was made jointly by Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., Executive Director of the National Urban League, and Christopher F. Edley, Executive Director of the United Negro College Fund.

The grants include $350,000 from the Kresge Foundation and $10,000 from the Charles Hayden Foundation. They will be used to adapt the interior of the previously-unoccupied 20-story office building to the needs of the two agencies.

The League and College Fund purchased the building last February from its joint owners, the Ford Motor Credit Corporation and Chemical Bank, simultaneously selling their current headquarters, a seven-story building at 55 East 52 Street, to Magpat Realty Co. The purchase price of the new building and the sale price of the old building were the same.

The two agencies expect to occupy their new headquarters in mid-December. It includes 4,300 square feet of office space per floor, the latest air conditioning and heating equipment, two levels of underground parking and a bank of electronically controlled, automatic elevators.

The National Urban League is an interracial, non-profit, non-partisan community service organization which secures equal opportunities in all sectors of American society for black Americans and other minorities.

New Dean At USF Appointed

SAN FRANCISCO - Dr. T. Kong Lee, President of Lincoln University of San Francisco, announced the recent appointment of Dr. Harrell Russell Coffer as Dean of the School of Business Administration.

A resident of San Francisco for the past twelve years, Dr. Coffer brings to his new post an enormous amount of top level executive experience and expertise. He has held such positions as Group President and member of the Board of Directors for Brugger Marketing Systems, Inc., of Redwood City; President and Chief Executive Officer and Director of Harrell R. Coffer and Associates, Inc., of San Francisco; and Chief Industrial Engineer and Financial Officer for Cessna Aircraft Company of Wichita, Kansas.

Throughout his successful career in business, Dr. Coffer has been interested in and kept abreast of educational advances in his field. He received his B.S. and M.A. degrees in Business Administration. He attended the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Graduate School of Business and earned his Ph. D. from the University of New Mexico.

PASS THE POST

Great Treats To American Democracy

Buffalo, N. Y. -- Dr. Joseph H. Jackson urged Americans to reject prophets of doom and destruction and support a philosophy of cooperation that historically has been America's way of solving problems.

Dr. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., cited proponents of segregation, the television industry and the Internal Revenue Service as the greatest threats to American democracy and freedom in his annual address today.

The 6.3 million member Baptist organization represents one fourth of the Negro Americans and is the largest Negro group in the nation. More than 20,000 delegates attend the annual convention each year.

"There are white sponsored racial leaders who have launched their plan of selecting, directing, subsidizing and controlling members of our race," Jackson said. "We must not take a chance on leaders who come to power and position so soon and whose support is undefined and unexplained.

"We must reject those who advocate a return to segregation and discrimination such as black caucuses and black political conventions if they exclude other Americans."

Jackson said the machineries of state and national governments are almost entirely in the hands of those who believe in building up by tearing down.

He said there is evidence of an effort in the two major political parties that progress is made by finding fault with respected leaders and statesmen.

"On great American statesman said 'this nation cannot exist half slave and half free'. I believe America cannot exist half segregated and half integrated."

Directing his comments to the American Negro, Jackson discussed guidelines as to how they can become an integral part of the nation's structure.

"We must revise our platform on race relations and revamp our thinking on the relationship of the race to the nation. We are strong enough now to help enrich the nation not simply by soliciting what belongs to us but also by investing a part of what we own and what we are to help strengthen ourselves and America as well."

Later in his address Jackson reminded delegates they have the tools of production such as 30,000 churches and meeting houses, health center in Hot Springs, Ark., office buildings in Philadelphia and Chicago, printing press and publishing company in Nashville, Tenn., where they can print their own literature and publish their own books, national library in Chicago, land in Liberia that could be developed into a good export-import business, and farming land in America that could farm on a larger scale.

"We have enough educated men and women to become writers in all the fields of our culture. We have trained minds to turn raw materials into finished products for the markets of the nation.

Jackson said that as one fourth of the total Negro population of America, convention members should carry one fourth of the jobs, and accept the task of financing one fourth of the educational and cultural institutions and develop their share of health centers.

"Convention members should accept the blame for one fourth of the high school drop-outs and seek to provide at least one-fourth of the scholarships for graduate studies in medicine, law, and the other professions. We must share the blame for one out every four of our young people who turn to crimes of dope, murder and other misdeameanors and provide at least one fourth of the effort toward the elimination of such crimes.

"Negro Americans should reject the 'cult of revenge' in which people think, plan and work to get revenge from those who were once oppressors of the weak. We should not allow ourselves to be used by those who are members of movements to divide, weaken and destroy our democracy. We must reject members of our race who advocate a return to segregation and discrimination and have taken a stand against integration.

"Our institutions that came into being in the days of uncontested discrimination should not be sacrificed but should be exposed to freedom and achievements. We should not be guilty of harboring among ourselves the same vicious evils against others which we labored so long and hard to destroy."

"there are now movements designed to take from many Negroes their rights to elect and follow their own leaders."

Speaking about white sponsored racial leaders Jackson said they tend to receive less criticism and are promoted, patronized and acclaimed by the public press and news media.

"In the days ahead our race deserves and needs more dedicated leaders who are loyal and ture to their race without being enemies or showing hostility to other races and nationalities.

"Many citizens in the United States are concerned about removing corruption from government, but many have expressed the opinion privately. . .possibly because they had no avenue by which to express it publicly."

Knox is Committee Head

Assembly Speaker Leo T McCarthy announced recently that Assemblyman John Knox (D-Richmond) will continue as Chairman of the Local Government Committee.

"I am gratified that John Knox will continue his outstanding leadership in the area of regional and local government legislation," McCarthy said. "His record in the Legislature is unsurpassed in the field of local government."

Knox has authored much of the significant legislation affecting state-local government operations. He authored legislation to make the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission a permanent agency charged with protecting the San Francisco Bay.

The Contra Costa lawmaker also authored legislation creating the Local Agency Formation Commission, the District Reorganization Law, the Tax Assessment Reform Act, and the Environmental Quality Act of 1970.

"I am, of course, pleased that the efforts to improve local government will be continued under Speaker McCarthy," Knox said. "As Chairman of Local Government, I will continue work towards those legislative goals we have thus far been unable to achieve."

Knox has been Chairman of Local Government for 11 years. He is a practicing attorney in Richmond and was first elected to the Legislature in 1960.

In addition to his chairmanship, Knox is a member of Ways and Means and the Finance and Insurance committees. He is also Chairman of the Select Committee on the Revision of the Corporations Code.

Among the honors accorded Knox for his efforts was the 1970 award by the San Francisco Bay Area Council as the most significant contributor to the Bay Area environment.

Revenue Sharing Funds Allocated

SACRAMENTO -- State Controller Houston I. Flournoy recently announced he has apportioned $28,754,677 among the 39 counties sharing in 1973-74 revenues from United States Forest Reserves.

This was $1,233,988 more than the apportionment for the previous year, an increase of 4.48 percent, Flournoy said. The apportionment represents 25 percent of the total Federal reveunues received from forest reserves in California during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1974.

Plumas County received the largest single apportionemt, $3,851,718. Siskiyou County was next with $3,717,458, followed by Trinity County with $3,651,789.

One-half of the amount apportionment to each county is deposited in its County Schoool Service Fund, and one-half in its County road Fund.

Monterey County's share was $6,240.54.

ARRANGEMENTS BY SEASIDE MORTUARY

Seaside Arts Festival October 12

In honor of Seaside's birthday, the Park and Recreation Dept., the Park and Recreation and Art Commissions of Seaside are co-sponsoring a 1974 SEASIDE Arts Festival on Saturday, Oct. 12, 1974, from 10am to 4 pm in the Gateway Auto Center, inviting both the professional and amateur artists and craftsmen from the Monterey Peninsula to exhibit. and to give public demonstrations of their talents and skills.

Arts and Crafts Extravaganza will be the theme for this outdoor show, featuring also the Community choir, community band, Seaside Twirl Club, Seaside Ballet Trupe, and others. The exhibitors and demonstrators will be assigned spaces and be responsible in setting up their own displays. Blocked off areas for participants, performers, and parking spaces will be marked that day, according to Cleveland Williams, Director of P & R Dept., and certificates or some kind of momento will be issued to all who participate.

There will be two divisions: professional and amateur, in the art and craft exhibition areas, according to Chairman C. Y. Lee of the Art Commission, and 40 to 50 artists and craftsmen are expected to show, and there is no entry fee, no commission charge for any artist. All those who are interested in participating are asked to go to Seaside City Hall to obtain a guidepine sheet and fill out an entry form before Oct. 1, 1974. Works of art may be brought before the Art Commission for previewing on Mon. Sept. 16, 1974 at 7:30PM in Seaside City Hall. Please phone 394-2965, 394-2110, or 394-8531 Ext. 28 for further information.

Disease Hits Birds

Some band-tailed pigeons and mourning doves are still dying in the Monterey Peninsula area from a disease which has been identified as trichomoniasis. The Department of Fish and Game again urges that people noticing sick birds at their bird feeders discontinue feeding immediately.

Depend on us for top interest.[1] And flexibility.[2]
It would be nice to have a savings account that earns top interest.
It would also be nice to have a savings account you could dip into any time.
With this in mind, we suggest you stop by your nearest Bank of America office.
We have Certificates of Deposit that earn 7¼% annual interest. All you need is a minimum investment of $1,000 for at least 4 years. Or as many as 10 years if you wish. Then no matter what happens to the interest rates, you've locked up that 7¼% high interest for the time you specified. We must mention that Federal law prohibits withdrawals on Certificates of Deposit prior to maturity unless three months of interest is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.
Which brings us to the regular savings account at Bank of America. The perfect place for the rest of your money. Because if you need it in a hurry, you can get it in a hurry. Put it in, take it out anytime. That's what we call flexibility.

Newspaper Youth Association Day

SACRAMENTO--Ten talented newspaper carriers left the 1974 California State Fair with a total of $390 in U. S. Savings Bonds, as the annual harvest festival completed its 121st run.

Sept. 8, the final of the fair, was also California Newspaper Youth Association Day, and carriers from fifteen California newspapers competed for the titles of "Fastest Folder" and "Most Accurate Thrower." The action took place at 10:30 a.m. in the Plaza at Exposition Center. Sheryce Gauntner, Miss Teen Sacramento, made the presentation of awards.

Bonds of $100, $50, $25, $10, and $10 were awarded to first through fifthplace finishers, respectively, in each of the two categories. The winners and their sponsors are as follows:

Folding Contest--1st, Denny Fong, Sacramento Bee; 2nd, Randy Kwiatkowski, Sacramento Union; 3rd, Stewart Sakoda, Fresno Bee; 4th, Gerry Scher, Palo Alto Times; 5th, Gary Bender Jr., Lodi News-Sentinel

Throwing Contest--1st, Bill Bolton, Sacramento Union; 2nd, David Gonzales, Sacramento Bee; 3rd, Brad Wardle, Contra Costa Times; 4th, Tom Artz, Antioch Ledger; 5th, Brian McElfresh, Roseville Press-Tribune.

"It was a great contest; the competition was fierce and all the boys had a good day at the fair," said Bill Ortman, General Manager of the California Newspaper Youth Foundation, which co-sponsored the contest with the California State Fair.

Among the participating newspapers were the Contra Costa Times, the Fresno Bee, the Fresno Guide, the Lodi News- Sentinel, the Oakland Post, Reno Newspapers, the Sacramento Bee, the Roseville Press-Tribune, the Palo Alto Times, the Antioch Ledger, the Pittsburgh Post--Dispatch, the Sacramento Union, the Concord Transcript, the East County Sentinel (Antioch), and the Fairfield Daily Republic.

Spotlight on HEALTH

DOCTORS DON'T ALWAYS AGREE ON COMMON COLD

Many physicians are of the opinion that there is no special diet to help a patient to either overcome the common cold, or prevent it.

Cod liver oil, citrus fruits and their juices, alcoholic beverages and other food and drink long regarded for their salutary effects have struck out, according to some medical studies and texts cited by the authors of an article written for pharmacists.

And, although some physicians recommend drinking lots of liquids, other suggest they be taken in moderation. There usually is agreement that fluids help the patient with a fever to replace the excessive fluid loss due to evaporation of moisture from the skin. Fluids have also been suggested as "an effective means of liquefying mucous in the lower respiratory tract." The beverage of choice mentioned in the article? Weak tea.

Once a cold develops and a nasal decongestant is used to help the patient breathe more easily, physicians admonish that tablets and drops not be used at the same time. Oily nose drops for general use are advised against, too.

According to the National Therapeutic Disease Index, the nose drops most often recommended are Neo-Synephrine in appropriate strengths for infants, children or adults. It is unwise to use medications for infants intended for adults. It is also unwise to use nose drops more than two or three times daily, unless the physician gives instructions to the contrary.

DENIM BY THE MILE

There's a fabric today whose uses have reached out into everything from automobile interiors to tuxedos. It appears at the coldest winter resorts and the warmest beaches.

And it's a fabric which has been so popular lately that this age has been dubbed "the blue denim society."

Sturdy denim can turn a simple pair of blue jeans into a part of one's self-expression. In a time when people are searching out the real down to earth qualities in life, denim comes across as a part of the "real" in the world.

Even on the ski slopes, denim is the choice of people who prefer a rugged pair of blue jeans, which can serve them both during and after the skiing hours, instead of a complicated wardrobe.

Denim producers make such a vast amount of the fabric that they measure their output in miles instead of yards. But they can't make enough to keep up with the demand.

The demand comes from those who create for the blue jean generation. It comes from home furnishing producers, who use denim in everything from draperies to slip covering. And it comes from the fashion people, high fashion designers who have made denim outfits and designers who turn denim into clothing ranging from bikinis to babies' diapers.

KNOCK OUT SMOG

CALIFORNIA AIR RESOURCES BOARD

At last, another big step in the fight against smog: new devices that deliver a knockout punch to car-produced causes of smog. Combustion engines create two major smog producers: hydrocarbons (HC) and oxides of nitrogen (NOx). Your car's factory-equipped system now reduces HC output. The new devices will decrease previously untouched NOx emissions. State law requires 1966-70 vehicles to install one. We can now start doing more to make California's air clean again!

Getting Into Jazz Festival Spirit

Getting into the swing of the Jazz Festival spirit, the Seaside Performing Arts Association has scheduled Lady Sings the Blues with Diana Ross as its feature movie in the Del Rey Theater beginning Saturday night.

The five time academy award nominated movie is the story of the late great blues singer, Billie Holliday. Diana Ross from the Supremes made her movie debut in this movie and nominated for Best Performance by an Actress. Also playing in the movie are Billy Dee Williams and Richard Pryor.

The Man, a story about the first black president of the United States, is the co-feature for the Jazz Festival weekend. It features James Earl Jones in the title role, with Martin Balsam, Burgess Meredith and Charles Lampkin who plays a black senator in the movie.

Senate Bill 2020

State Senator George Moscone today congratulated Governor Ronald Ronald Reagan for signing Senate Bill 2020, a measure allocating $13 million in state funds to those local school districts that serve school lunches.

Senator Moscone noted that the new legislation will provide school districts with about 5 cents for each school lunch served and make it possible for many school districts to continue the program.

"The Governor's action in signing this legislation is a progressive move toward better education. We have been told on numerous occasions that there is a definite link between good nutrition and the ability to learn.

"The fact that the Governor has helped move the state toward partnership with the federal government and local schools in providing good food is encouraging," added the San Francisco Democrat.

Senator Moscone, who is Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Nutrition and Human Needs, took note of a soon-to-be-released report from the Department of Education showing that students who are fed decent meals learn better.

What Will We Run Out Of?

Americans accustomed to living in the land of plenty need to take another look at their shopping lists and find substitutes for many products, according to an article in the October issue of Reader's Digest. Even items that don't disappear altogether may be hard to find, and the consumer will need ingenuity and patience to come up with alternatives.

According to author Jeremy Main, these are some of the problems that face shoppers in coming months:

- Food. There will be enough for the time being, but periodic shortages will occur. Sudden needs elsewhere in the world can exhaust U.S. surpluses and drive prices to levels even higher than at present. Prices are up for wheat and sugar; as many Americans turn from high-priced commodities to cheaper foods such as cereals, these become harder to find. Others have taken to planting and preserving more home-grown food. Ironically, this trend has led to shortages in such items as seeds, garden tools, and items used for home canning and freezing. However, the article predicts, next year's supply of store canned goods will likely equal or slightly exceed current availability.

- Hardware. The high cost of labor has led to an upsurge in the use of - and consequent scarcity of - do-it-yourself tools and supplies. One alternative to buying expensive equipment is to rent tools that are infrequently used Though scarce, steel plastics and aluminum can be substituted for copper, which is even scarcer.

- Wood and Paper. These shortages affect a wide range of items - from brown paper bags to furniture and building supplies. Trees are not an inexhaustable commodity. Conservation and recycling are required to help meet new needs.

Though technology will find eventual answers to many of our current problems, shortages will recur and new ones will crop up. The age of abundance is over, the Digest concludes; the consumer will have to learn to live in, and with, the new age of scarcity.

STATISTICS

According to the United States Department of Labor, the proportion of college graduates in the nation's workforce increased from 10 percent in 1959 to 14 percent in 1972. The department projects that by the mid-1980s, about 14.5 million college grads will be needed to meet requirements.

a BOOK that can CHANGE your whole life

Is GOD real to you?
Can you trust HIM?
Is HE near to you?

The Bible tells us we can turn to God for help, for health, for protection. Yet some think these Bible promises are empty. They don't have to be. Today there is a book that is helping many people tune in to the truth of God's nearness, His power and fatherliness. That book is

Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.

At a low point of poverty, hopeless illness and loneliness, its author, Mary Baker Eddy, saw that God can be trusted and loved. She found that God heals the sick when we love and understand Him. A deep student of the Bible, she discovered a Science based on living the Christianity Jesus taught. She won her freedom from poverty and disease and from her loneliness. Then she wrote down what she learned for the whole world.

By reading and studying this powerful book along with the Bible, men and women throughout the world have found that God can and will help them. These people have solved housing problems, gained opportunities for better education. They've won freedom from poverty, overcome racism. They've discovered what it really means to be the children of God.

You can borrow a copy of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures from the free lending library at any Christian Science Reading Room, or you can purchase it in paperback.

SPECIAL FREE OFFER
If you'll take this ad to one of these Reading Rooms, you can have your own copy of Science and Health to read for thirty days. If at the end of that time you want to keep it, you just pay the nominal purchase price of $2.25

Or you can return it to the Reading Room with absolutely no obligation.
